Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 12 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy, damp start Sunday but becoming drier and brighter. Mild.

Today:
Overcast at first with some residual patchy light rain or drizzle. Soon becoming dry, with afternoon bright or sunny spells developing. Feeling noticeably milder than recent days but winds strengthening later. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Generally rather cloudy overnight, and although most places should remain dry, there could be a little patchy drizzle in places. Breezy. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:
Generally cloudy. Most places should be dry, although outbreaks of rain likely to reach the far west towards midnight. Mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Cloudy, damp start Tuesday, becoming drier and brighter. Wednesday and Thursday, variable cloud amounts but generally dry, some overnight mist or fog possible where cloud breaks. Still mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.